Paisley Oregon

How to find Paisley...

Take your favorite route to Bend. Travel south on Highway 97 through LaPine to the junction of Highway 31. Pass Silver Lake, over Picture Rock Pass and around the shores of Summer Lake. The Chewaucan River winds through the town of Paisley which commands a view of the impressive Coglin Rims.

If you are passing through Klamath Falls, take 140 to Lakeview, Oregon. Turn left at the (only) stop light on Hwy 31. Go through Valley Falls (an intersection, gas station and store) and continue on Hwy 31 to the next flashing light. That is Paisley! From Lakeview it is about 45 miles on a good, two-lane road.

Nearby Points of interest:

Some of the panoramic geological features that inspired Capt. John C. Fremont in 1843, continue to impress visitors today

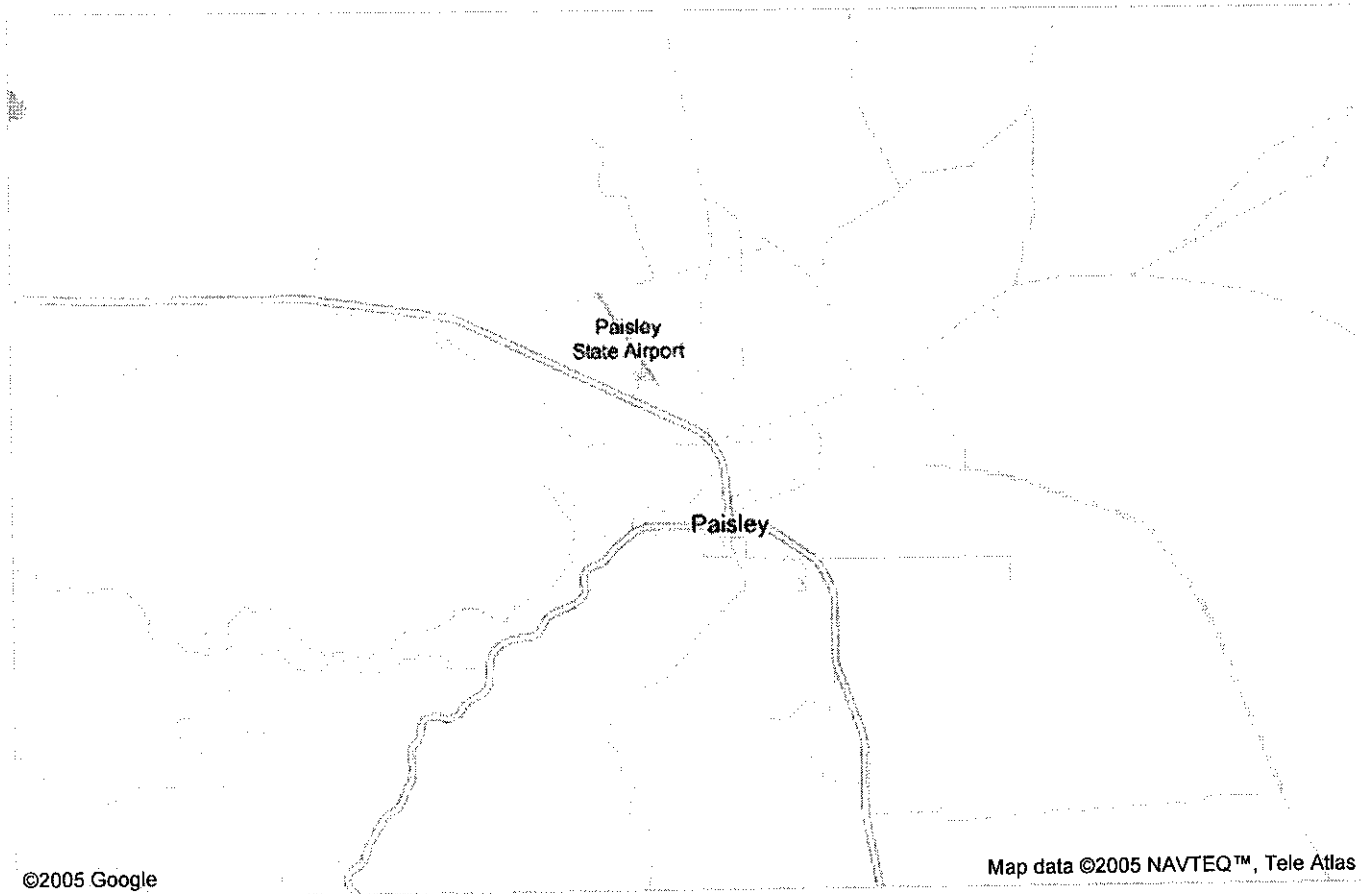

FREMONT POINT: From this vantage point contemporary explorers can imagine Fremont's reaction when he looked down on Summer Lake. The view is spectacular and well worth the drive up to the point, located above Paisley in the Fremont National Forest.

ABERT RIM: At 2,000 feet high and more than 30 miles long, Abert Rim is the highest exposed escarpment in North America. It is a favorite launching point for hang gliders, who frequently may be seen flying around the area.

HART MOUNTAIN NATIONAL ANTELOPE REFUGE: In 1866-1867, camp Warner was established here to provide settlers with protection from the Indians. In 1936 Hart Mountain was used as a sanctuary to remnant antelope herds. The Civilian Conservation Corps in 1938 built a stone building which now serves as the refuge headquarters. Camping and enclosed hot springs are available year-round.

Welcome to the City of Paisley, Oregon

● General Information

Like many places, the history of Paisley is recorded in the local names. Prehistoric people lived here as long as 10,000 years ago. Evidence of their existence has been found in caves and rock paintings in the area. Eventually the Northern Paiute, Modoc and Klamath Indians settled here and in fact, camped where Paisley is today. They left their name on the Cheawucan River, which flows through Paisley.

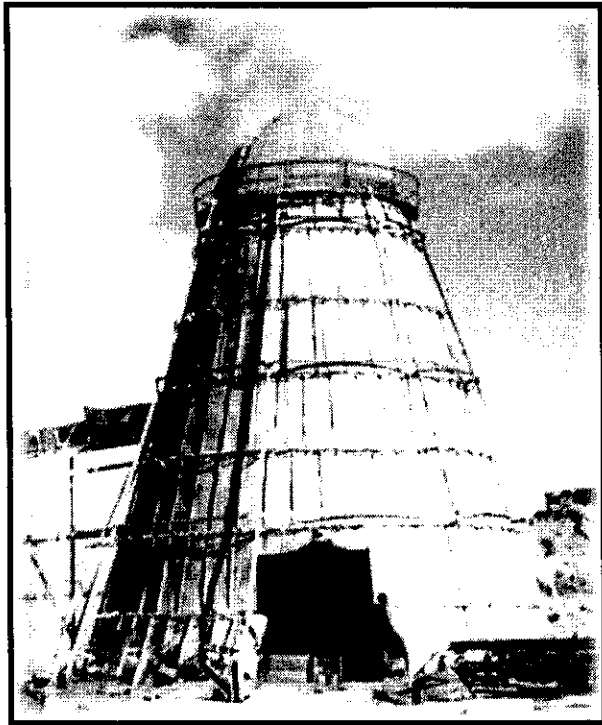

In 1843, when the first wagons were just starting on the long trek over the Oregon Trail, John C. Fremont was on a mapping and reconnaissance expedition for the Army when he and many of his party passed through here. None of his party stayed, but names given to many geographic features remain, such as Winter Rim and Summer Lake.

Not all the settlers crossing the continent on the Oregon Trail were bound for the fertile valleys of the Willamette River. Many came west looking for the open country found around Paisley. By 1870 the town was growing and by 1873 a Post Office was established. An early Scot settler has been credited with naming the town of Paisley after the city in Scotland.

Early day settlers lent their names to many other features such as Harvey Creek, Withers Lake, and Brattain Butte. Decendents of all these families are still in Paisley.

The local economy is mainly based on cattle ranching, the U.S. Forest Service and recreation. The ZX Rance, headquartered here, is the largest in the state. There are also three Paisley History...

"The old wigwam burner at the mill before they tore it down"

"Century Ranches" in the area which have been in the same families for over 100 years.

Located on the edge of the Great Basin with the high desert to the east and the Fremont National Forest to the west, Paisley is the hub of an excellent outdoor vacation land. Hunting, fishing, photography, bird watching, rock hounding, hiking and caping opportunities surround us.

Within a short distance from Paisley are clear mountain lakes and streams that have native rainbow trout and brook trout, or are stocked annually by the State Department of Fish and Wildlife. Upstream from Paisley, the Chewaucan River is a noted fly fishing stream. The Sycan, Sprague and Ana Rivers, as well as numerous creeks in the area offer excellent fishing. Campbell and Deadhorse Lakes, Thompson, Duncan and Ana Reservoirs offer good lake fishing.

The area is noted for mule deer and antelope, and many can be seen from the roadside almost any time of the year. The Summer Lake Bird Refuge, several miles north on Highway 31, is famous for duck and goose hunting and excellent bird watching. The refuge provides a resting place and nesting area for many species.

Paisley School starts its own cattle ranch

The Paisley School raised eyebrows in Oregon and across the country when it purchased five heifers and a bull. There has already been success with that project. A calf was recently born to one of the heifers. Because of our location, many students are from a ranching community and it makes sense to focus on ranching.
